Press Will Support N.Y. Times in Clash With Government

Authority for involvement of U.S. troops in Southeast Asia traces back to congressional adoption of the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution. However, a subsequent secret study by the Pentagon reports that the resolution was drafted three months before the alleged Gulf of Tonkin incident occurred—casting doubt as to whether there ever was such an incident.

The Pentagon study was, of course, highly classified material. Somehow the New York Times got hold of a copy and began publication of it serially.

The Nixon administration went into court and stopped publication of the series at least temporarily, until the courts make a final decision. The government claims a violation of national security—the New York Times stands on its right to publish without restriction under the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech and press.

The Gulf of Tonkin Resolution belongs to the Johnson administration, and the attack on the Times' expose belongs to the Nixon regime. So the issue involves both major parties.

But the attempt to halt the expose involves the entire press—and any clash with government on this issue will find the press supporting the N.Y. Times' position almost unanimously.

It's not publication of the Pentagon study that damages national security—rather the damage was done by the officials who conspired to write the phoney Gulf of Tonkin Resolution three months before the "incident" was supposed to have occurred.

Government may try to cover up scandalous conduct by its own officials, but newspapers are charged with the responsibility of exposing official misconduct—and are specifically protected by the constitution in discharging this responsibility.

The New York Times did what any good newspaper would have done—documented a national scandal, and blew the lid off.

Judge Rejects Petition

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. District Judge G. Thomas Eisele rejected Wednesday a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed by an attorney for John H. Pointer Jr., former Pine Bluff city collector who had been convicted of embezzling $32,473 in city funds.

Eisele also set aside a temporary restraining order which had kept state officials from taking Pointer into custody to begin serving a five-year prison sentence.

Pointer filed notice that he would appeal the rejection of the petition to the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Pointer's principal claim in the petition was that he did not have effective legal representation. He said that his attorney, Bart G. Mullis of Pine Bluff, allowed several of his "enemies" to serve on the jury.

Pointer was represented in the habeas corpus petition by Kenneth C. Coffelt of Little Rock.

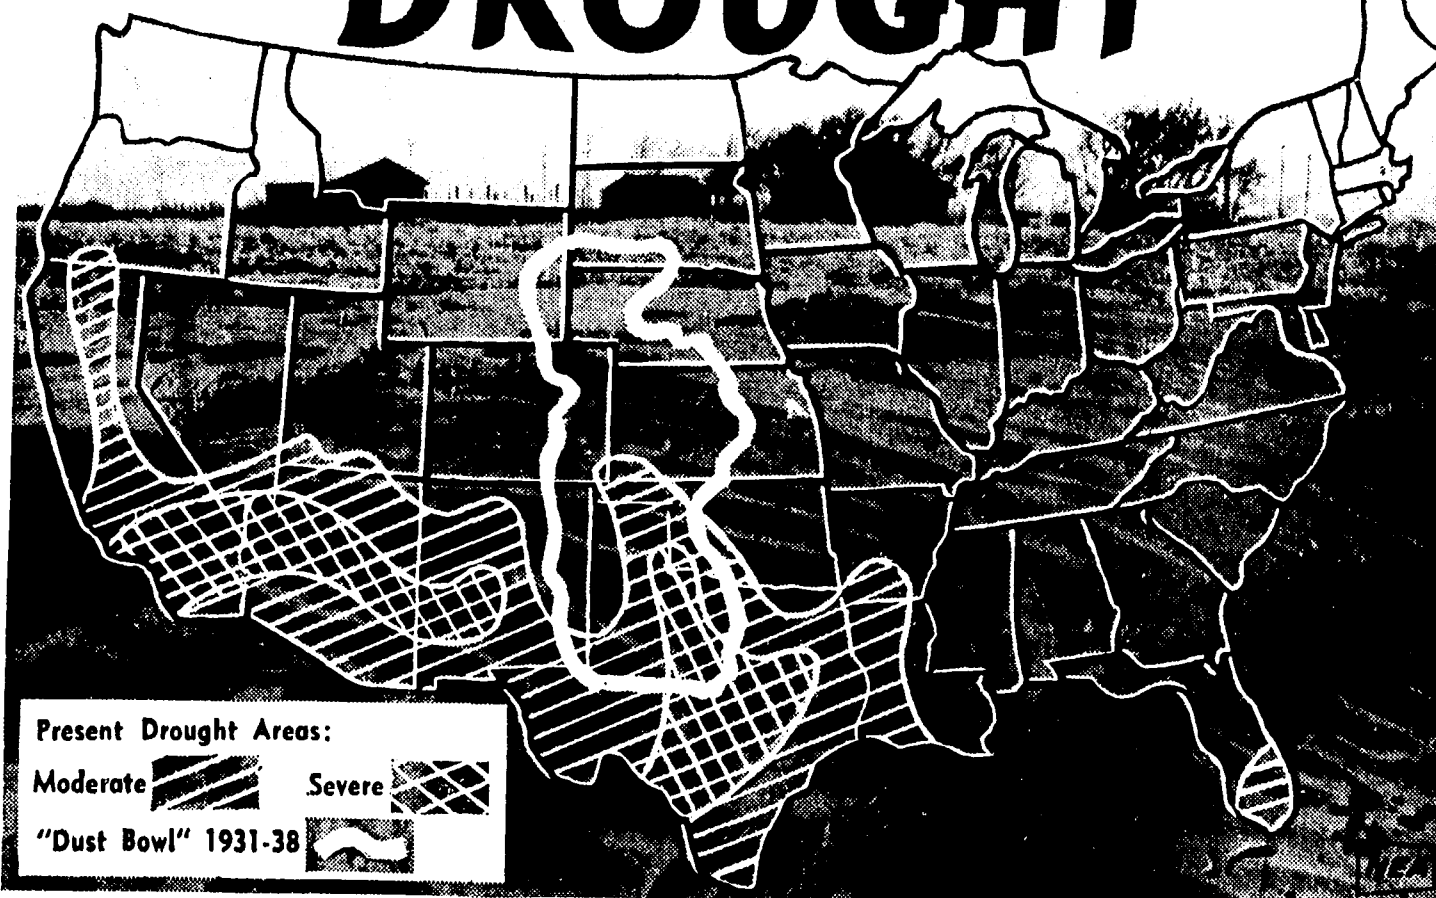

A Jefferson County Circuit Court jury deliberated only seven minutes on July 9, 1969, before finding Pointer guilty. Judge Henry W. Smith sentenced Pointer and the conviction and sentence was upheld by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Water Loan to Okolona

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Farmers Home Administration has approved a $54,000 loan and a $53,500 grant to the city of Okolona to build a rural community water system.

The FHA also approved a $338,000 loan to improve the community water system at Hamburg.

DROUGHT

A dry spell increasingly reminiscent of the great droughts of the 1930s has left much of the southwestern United States parched this year. Crops are lost over wide areas, livestock suffers and officials are seeking disaster relief from Washington. Even with sudden relief from heavy downpours, some experts estimate it will take three years for the worst hit areas to recover. Although bad, the situation is not as catastrophic as the 1930s, however, in large part because of the soil conservation lessons learned then and later.

Lake Dying Because of Bacteria

WINTER GARDEN, Fla. (AP) — Dying Lake Apopka's thousands of wildlife victims succumbed to a bacterial scourge capable of dissolving tissues in the infected animals, scientists studying the mystery plague say.

An "aeromonas infection" in which bacteria become able to break down the tissues of alligators, turtles, fish and birds is the culprit responsible for carcasses strewn along the shores of Lake Apopka, Dr. Frank Hayes, head of the University of Georgia School of Veterinary Medicine, said Wednesday. Even as the team announced its findings, the 31,000-acre central Florida lake experienced a major fish kill, apparently due to oxygen depletion. It was the latest in a series which began in the summer of 1947 when heavy loads of fertilizers and muck began pouring into its waters from farms on the northern shore.

The investigation indicated that enrichment by the muck farms set the stage for a speed-up in the growth of bacteria and a change in the eating styles of fish and wildlife as they consumed larger amounts of the bacteria-filled prey.

Finally Bows to Mod Era With Purchase of a Suit With Stripes

By BOB HARING

Associated Press Writer

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J.

(AP) — I have bowed to the mod era.

It was more a nod, actually, than a bow. But it was a major concession.

I bought a suit with stripes. Not very big stripes. Or very bright ones. Small ones, really. Very small. Invisible, at 10 feet, in fact.

I did not surrender without a struggle. Twenty years of solid colors cannot be overturned easily.

At the one store I asked if they had any of last year's suits. I bought a suit last year that didn't have flared legs and was a solid color—the lapels do spread a bit wide, but even last year I had concluded you can't have everything.

Not many years ago I used to ask for last year's models as an economy measure; now it's defense against fashion.

I finally bought a suit at a department store.

The clerk was an older gentleman. He was wearing an olive green suit with burnt orange stripes, a yellowish green

Suspected Mafia Heads Exiled Insist This Is an Isle of Innocents

ISLE OF LINOSA, Sicily (AP) — The 18 suspected Mafia bosses exiled here insist that this is an isle of innocents.

Some of them have been accused of murder in gang warfare, some of kidnapping, some of drug running. But all say that whatever is on their police record, there is nothing on their conscience.

"It wasn't me. It was another fellow by the same name," explains Diego Plaia who looks like a retired banker. He is suspected of being a contact man between the Sicilian Mafia and a crime ring in the United States.

"It was my live for America that got me in this fix," says Rosario Mancino, adding that when he went to America in 1948 to visit an uncle he fell in love with the country. But when he returned to Italy police pounced on him on drug charges.

"I'm just a simple farmer," insists 75-year-old Mariano Li-cari, awaiting a rehearing of his conviction and sentence to life imprisonment for Mafia crimes.

"What Mafia? I know nothing of it," contends Angelo La Barbera, awaiting rehearing of his sentence to 22 years in prison for Mafia crimes. "If I had been born some where else and not in Palermo I'd never have been blamed with all this. Palermo! I don't ever want to see it again, even on a postcard."

Mostly the Mafia suspects would be glad to be almost anywhere else.

Linosa, swept by Sandy winds off the Sahara, is a few square miles of volcanic rock with a population of 370 fishermen and their families.

It gets water by boat once each 18 days, has one automobile, eight policemen and one phone on which the exiles are running up record bills of $100 a day in calls to Sicily. Electricity is turned off and lights go out at midnight.

All the men were brought here in May, just before 15 others were sent in exile to the island of Filicudi.

The men here are trying to preserve better relations with the people than in Filicudi, where villagers first resisted the arrival of exiles.

The Mafia suspects here have stately bows for the drably dressed womenfolk they pass in the streets. They don't get even a nod in return, but they are beginning to have better luck with the children. One class wrote themes on the arrival of the exiles.

Little Pasquale Giuseppe Giardina got a "very good" on his piece. He wrote: "When they got here I hid behind my mother because I heard they were all assassins. Now they're my friends. And I never had so much ice cream."

Couldn't Get Martha Mitchell

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The school board's attorney in the Watson Chapel school desegregation case, John Norman Warnock, tried and failed to get Martha Mitchell on the telephone Wednesday.

Warnock tried to call the wife of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell at her apartment in Washington, D.C., to tell her of his intention to withdraw a petition he filed June 4 in federal court in Washington to restrain the Mitchells from making public statements.

Earlier this year, Warnock was held in contempt of a U.S. District Court order by Judge Oren Harris at Little Rock, restraining him from making public statements about the desegregation case.

Warnock said he agreed with the viewpoints of the Mitchells, but said that if restraints were placed on his speech, restraints should likewise be placed on others.

He said he would withdraw the petition now because he had spoken in Austin, Tex., at a rally held by the Austin Anti-Busing Association last Saturday night and had not been arrested.

Nixon Stakes Prestige on Drug Offense

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — La-

beling drug abuse "a national emergency," President Nixon asked Congress today for an extra $155 million to "tighten the noose around the necks of drug peddlers and thereby loosen the noose around the necks of drug users."

In a special message, Nixon called for new efforts to rehabilitate drug victims while, at the same time, increasing efforts to cut off the supply of illicit narcotics on an international scale.

The President said use of drugs by American servicemen in Vietnam is "especially disheartening."

He announced the immediate establishment of a rehabilitation program for addicted servicemen being returned from the war zone. And he asked Congress to give the Pentagon legislative authority to keep uniformed personnel in service beyond normal discharge dates if they are addicts.

The President gave congressional leaders an early-morning advance peek at his proposal.

Discussing "the tide of drug abuse which has swept America in the last decade," Nixon said addiction "afflicts both the body and the soul" of the nation.

To coordinate federal activities in research and education in the area, Nixon announced creation by executive order of a Special Action Office of Drug Abuse Prevention within the White House structure. He asked Congress to follow up with legislation that would formally establish this office and broaden its power.

The extra $155 million Nixon seeks for anti-drug efforts in the 1972 fiscal year that begins July 1, would bring total outlays to $371 million.

Of the added funds, $105 million would be used for the treatment and rehabilitation of addicts. The rest of the money would go for enforcement, research, education, and—to the tune of $1 million—American aid in training enforcement officers of other countries which are the source of most illegal

Times to Court Today to Try to Keep Secret Documents From Seizure HHH Says LBJ in Agony Over Decisions

By WALTER R. MEARS

AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey says that as vice president he watched President Lyndon B. Johnson anguish and "practically die" over decisions that led to escalation of the Vietnam war.

But Humphrey said a secret Pentagon study, portions of which have been published by The New York Times, indicate a regrettable lack of candor in what the American people were told about those decisions.

The Minnesota Democrat said he did not know of the Pentagon report or of some of the papers and decisions it covered until the Times account.

He said as vice president he was not informed about a reported April 1, 1965, decision by Johnson to send 18,000 to 20,000 U.S. combat troops to South Vietnam, the start of the massive manpower buildup.

He was the Democratic vice presidential nominee Sept. 7, 1964, when the Johnson administration was reported to have reached a consensus bombing of North Vietnam would have to start early in the new year.

Humphrey said he had known of such a decision he would have altered his campaign against Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, then depicted by Democrats as trigger happy and in favor of bombing.

"I'm not a liar," Humphrey said. "I wouldn't go out and accuse Mr. Goldwater if I knew we had a policy..."

The Times, starting Sunday, published three installments of its series on the top-secret Pentagon report before the Justice Department obtained a court order forbidding further publication before 1 p.m. Saturday. The government is seeking a permanent injunction.

Humphrey said some of the papers involved may reflect memos and advice sent to Johnson, not presidential decision.

"There's a lot of difference between a memo and a policy," he added.

"One thing that bothers me is that these documents don't bring out the way the President really anguished through this period," Humphrey said. "He proceeded very cautiously. He did not want to arouse a war spirit in this country..."

"If you don't watch out, you get the idea that this was premeditated escalation. It was not..."

But he said he would not allow a fishing expedition for other material the Times may possess.

U.S. District Court Judge Murray I. Gurfein said he was limiting the government's discovery motion to only those documents received by the Times from the source of the materials used in the three articles published so far.

The government also seeks to bar the Times from resuming its series of three articles about the Vietnam study.

It moved on Wednesday, under discovery procedures, to inspect the documents already alluded to by the Times and "other classified documents" it believes.

Young Negro Found Stabbed to Death

Robert Howard, 19-year-old local Negro, was found dead about 6:30 a.m. Thursday in a ditch on Dairy Street. He had been stabbed in the back, presumably with a knife.

The body was found by Lester Shaw, who lives nearby, when he was enroute to work this morning.

The stabbing is believed to have occurred somewhere around 10 to 10:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Investigating officers would not reveal whether any suspect is being held.

Wants Respect for Officers

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ray H. Thornton Jr. said Wednesday night that law enforcement should be looked upon in a new way — with respect.

Thornton, in a speech to the 51st annual convention of the Arkansas Law Enforcement Officers Association, said there was an unwritten code of accepted disrespect for law enforcement.

Thornton said he realized there were many outdated laws that were so foolish they undermined the attempts of serious law enforcement. He urged, however, that all laws be respected.

No Hope for Bill to Cut War Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — An amendment to cut off money for the Vietnam war headed for a House vote today, given less chance of passage than a tougher move that failed in the Senate Wednesday.

Sponsors estimated 150 to 170 of the 434 House members would vote for the Nedzi-Whalen amendment to prohibit spending for war weapons after Dec. 31, 1971.

Wednesday's Senate votes against two amendments that would have cut off funds at year's end for all U.S. operations in Indochina represented a major victory for the Nixon administration. But even in losing, the idea of setting a firm date for ending American fighting in Southeast Asia picked up five votes over a similar measure defeated nine months ago.

In Wednesday's first vote, the Senate turned aside a last-minute substitute by freshman Sen. Lawton M. Chiles Jr., D-Fla., to set a June 1, 1972, deadline contingent on North Vietnam's release of all U.S. prisoners 60 days earlier. The vote was 52 to 44.

Then, by a count of 55 to 42, the Senate rejected the original amendment by Sens. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., for a Dec. 31, 1971 fund cutoff. This would have provided a possible 60-day extension should North Vietnam fail to agree promptly to release U.S. prisoners.

Last year, the Senate rejected a similar Hatfield-McGovern amendment 55 to 39. One immediate result of the Senate action was to increase chances of extended debate against the two-year draft extension, vehicle for the antiwar amendments.

Hatfield said there is "a very good likelihood" of a filibuster against the draft bill itself. Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, who has threatened to talk the measure to death, said the vote "merely strengthens" his resolve to do so.

Hatfield and McGovern, sensing their amendment would fail, spent much of Wednesday in behind-the-scenes negotiations with Chiles, who had announced plans for a different substitute proposal, and a group of moderate Republicans who oppose the war but have been reluctant to set a deadline.

"This is running out," Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Armed Services Committee, declared. "It will plague us for decades to come."

Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, chairman of the Republican National Committee, called the Chiles proposal "a vote of no confidence in the President."

FDA to Control Arsenal

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — David Smith, of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, has been named chief executive officer of the National Center for Toxicological Research at the Pine Bluff Arsenal.

The announcement was made Wednesday by Dr. Dale Lindsey, an FDA official.

Lindsey said Wednesday that the FDA will have complete control of the arsenal by early next Spring. Smith will move to Arkansas from Washington, D.C., in six to eight weeks.

The Arsenal is in the process of being phased out as a storage facility for germ warfare supplies by the Army.

Lindsey said 500 additional employees would be added at arsenal during the next five years. He said the center's chief aim would be to make the nation's first long-term study of the effects of lingering residues of chemicals which are believed to contaminate man's food and environment.

Move on to Get Plane for Bumpers

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The University of Arkansas has an airplane. So do the Game and Fish Commission, the Highway Department and the State Police. But the state does not provide an airplane for its busiest executive, the governor, nor for the other constitutional officers.

A move is now afoot to provide them with one. The Arkansas Legislative Council has the proposition under study and Gov. Dale Bumpers says he stands ready to support legislation to obtain a plane for use by the seven constitutional officers and heads of state departments.

Bumpers recently asked the Aeronautics Commission to check other states to see if they put a plane at the disposal of their public officials. Of the about 46 states replying to the commission, all made an airplane available to the governor on some basis, Bumpers said. In some states, the governor has the sole use of the plane, he said.

The question of whether Arkansas' chief executive needed a plane was not the subject of much talk until Bumpers became governor this year because six-term Gov. Orval E. Faubus did not like to fly, preferring to travel by car when he could, and his successor, Winthrop Rockefeller, had his own jet.

Bumpers prefers air travel. Most of his in-state flying is in the Highway Commission plane and long out-of-state trips are by commercial flight, according to Archie Schaffer III, Bumpers' appointments aide.

The governor also has flown in private planes on a number of occasions to meet his innumerable engagements, but he says he does not want to do this because of possible conflicts of interest that might arise.

"I don't like to fly — I don't want to fly in private planes," he said. "There's always that gentle pressure, you know, and I don't think the people of Arkansas want the governor out there, begging, borrowing, pleading for an airplane ride ..."

"If somebody offers to fly you some place, they don't ask you for anything. No one ever asks you for anything, but I just don't think you should be put in that position."

Bumpers said the number of flights he has made by private aircraft had not been "excessive."

"I do not prefer to do that, but poor people have poor ways," he said.

Bumpers said a $9,500 legis-

Lockheed Has Major Labor Leaders Split

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two major labor leaders split today over a proposed $250-million government loan guarantee designed to keep Lockheed Aircraft Corp. solvent.

In a statement prepared for the Senate Banking Committee, AFL-CIO President George Meany said federal underwriting of the quarter-billion dollars in loans would enable Lockheed to continue work on its new TriStar jumbo jet.

A potential job loss estimated at 45,700 in at least 35 states was cited by the labor federation statement at its reason for endorsing the bailout proposal.

But Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, told the committee in its prepared testimony the loan proposal poses serious dangers and probably wouldn't save Lockheed anyway.

Woodcock said he is "greatly concerned about the welfare of my country and about the serious dangers which, I believe, we will face in the future if bill S. 1891 should become law and the government gets itself into the business of bailing out big corporations whenever they find themselves in serious financial trouble."

A Meany ally, Floyd E. Smith, president of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said Lockheed bankruptcy would send shock waves through the aerospace industry, the airline industry and the nation's economy.

Smith, whose union represents two-thirds of the nation's organized aerospace workers and 40,000 Lockheed employees, said failure of the loan guarantee bill would result in laying off 17,700 air bus workers, 14,000 employees of subcontractors and suppliers and at least 14,000 in service industries.

Already hit hard by the cutoff of government funds for developing the supersonic transport, the aerospace industry now counts 300,000 workers as unemployed, Smith said.

Collapse of Lockheed, the nation's largest defense contractor, would make it more difficult for other aerospace firms to get operating capital, Smith said, just as the Penn Central crisis dried up financing for other railroads last year.

Lockheed's financial troubles were brought to a head by collapse of Britain's Rolls-Royce Ltd., which is building engines for the TriStar.

lieved to be in the Times' possession.

The judge asked lawyers for the Times to consult the newspaper and determine if it would be willing to give the government by 5 p.m. today a list of all secret Pentagon documents it had received from its source.

Floyd Abrams, representing the newspaper, told Gurfein the Times was willing to list for the government only the documents mentioned as source material for articles already published.

Gurfein on Tuesday refused a government plea for immediate recovery of the documents.

Gurfein, sworn in last week to fill a vacancy on the federal bench, is also presiding over the proceedings in which the government seeks to enjoin the Times from further publication of the series. He issued a temporary restraint Tuesday, barring publication until 1 p.m. Saturday. A hearing on the injunction against publication was scheduled for Friday.

In today's court proceedings, Abrams said the Times has furnished copies of the documents referred to in the Times series and the newspaper opposes letting the government see its materials because of handwritten notations, which might help the government identify the newspaper's confidential source.

Sidney Zion, a former Times reporter currently working on a book, identified the source Wednesday night as Daniel Ellsberg, a senior research associate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a former Defense Department employee.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., voted with the majority Wednesday when the Senate defeated 52-41 an amendment to cut off funds to prosecute the Vietnam war after June 1, 1972 provided U.S. prisoners of war are released 60 days before that.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., did not vote.

Trace Leak to Ex-Defense Employee

NEW YORK (AP) — A former New York Times reporter said Wednesday night that the secret Pentagon report on the Vietnam war was given to the Times by Daniel Ellsberg, a former Defense Department employee now a senior research associate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Sidney Zion, the former Timesman and former deputy U.S. attorney in New Jersey, named Ellsberg in an interview broadcast locally over WMCA radio.

Zion refused to say where he got the information, but said he considered his sources "very impeccable."

The Times had no comment on Zion's statements.

"I called everybody I knew ... for the last day and a half ... it just pieced together finally and then I knew it for sure ... I didn't sense anything. The only thing I did sense, what I was sure about was that it wasn't anybody that was a household word," Zion said.

On Sunday, the Times began publishing excerpts from the 47-volume Pentagon Study entitled "History of United States Decision Making Process on Vietnam Policy." After the third installment in the series was published, the government asked a federal court in New York to block further publication. Under a restraining order in effect until Saturday, the Times has run no more copy.

Zion said he attempted but failed to reach Ellsberg, a Harvard student, at his Cambridge home today.

Zion said Ellsberg came into possession of the completed Secret Pentagon report after he left government service and while working for the Rand Corp.

There was no immediate comment from Rand, which has conducted defense and other studies for the government.

Zion said Ellsberg turned the report over to Neil Sheehan of the Times "sometime in late March."

Ellsberg's current appointment ends June 30 and it was not known whether he has received a renewal.

In Washington, the Justice Department declined to comment directly on Zion's allegation or published reports that the FBI knows two or three individuals who may have been involved in giving the material to the Times.

The department said it is "not ruling out criminal prosecution" of either the Times or the person or persons who leaked the documents to the newspaper.

U.S. Giving Okinawa Back to Japan

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States signed an historic treaty with Japan today, restoring the island base of Okinawa to Japanese sovereignty after 27 years of postwar occupation but retaining 88 military base facilities.

The treaty, signed simultaneously in Washington and Tokyo by Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi, goes into effect two months after ratification by the Japanese Diet and the U.S. Senate.

The formal agreement includes assurances from President Nixon and Prime Minister Eisaku Sato that the United States in effect will not exercise the right to store nuclear weapons on Okinawa when the island is turned back to Japan sometime next year.

Explaining this nuclear assurance, Undersecretary of State Alexis Johnson, former U.S. ambassador to Japan, said the understanding "carefully preserves our right to consult with Japan if, in the case of an exceptional situation, we would feel it necessary to do so and this applies specifically to nuclear weapons."

Prime Minister Sato praised Nixon for "the highest degree of statesmanship" in agreeing to the peaceful return of territory won by the United States in World War II.

The treaty provides for Japan to pay $320 million to the United States in compensation for U.S. investment. He said the 88 bases retained by the United States, it lost 46 bases including the Naha Airport and some 12,000 acres of land to be handed back to Japan.

said, was "stress" caused by a buildup of organic ooze on the lake bottom and overcrowding.

Hayes said the bacteria are present in healthy waters too, but they have not multiplied to such an extent in other Florida lakes because other conditions in Lake Apopka are not present.

Dr. Wilfred Fisk, director of the Orange County Health Department, said there are 48 recorded cases of humans contracting the disease. Their conditions were connected with other causes, he said, but the lake could be dangerous for water sports such as skiing.

Twenty-one alligators, hundreds of turtles and thousands of fish have died in the lake in recent weeks. Commercial fishermen believe the epidemic was sparked by a recent three-week drawdown of the lake level by the Southeast Florida Water Management District.

The drawdown was undertaken in an effort to reduce excessive nutrient content. Fisk and Hayes defended it Wednesday as the only long-range solution to the lake's problems.

Advocates of the drawdown theorize that exposing the bottom around the edges to sunshine would solidify the muck and encourage growth of plant life.

State biologists said muck deposits cover 90 per cent of the lake bottom to a maximum depth of 40 feet. The top three feet, they said, contained half a billion pounds of nitrogen and 5 million to 10 million pounds of phosphorus.

"America has the largest number of heroin addicts of any nation in the world," said Nixon. "And yet, America does not grow opium—of which heroin is a derivative—nor does it manufacture heroin, which is a laboratory process carried out abroad. This deadly poison in the American life stream is, in other words, a foreign import."

With public and congressional concern about the rise of GI drug addiction in South Vietnam, West Germany and elsewhere, Nixon proposes identifying and treating addicts-in-uniform before they are returned to civilian life. Congressional legislation will be needed to extend the service terms of some uniformed men and women if extra time is necessary to wean them away from narcotics before they receive honorable discharges.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES M. LAMBERT

The candlelit sanctuary of the First Methodist Church, Emmet, was the setting as Miss Belinda Anita Lambert and James Michael Lambert exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony on June 4. The Rev. Calvin Miller heard their vows at seven o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. Virginia Dougan Cain is the mother of the bride. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark H. Lambert Sr.

Candlelighters were Joe and John Dougan of Daingerfield, Texas, cousins of the bride.

Pre-nuptial selections were played by Miss Jan Jones of Smackover. She accompanied Miss Rebecca Ward who sang, "A Time For Us", "More", and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her uncles, Billy Dougan and William Pharr, wore a gown featuring an overlapping A-line paneled skirt of white angelskin peau de soie with re-embroidered lace applique traced in seed pearls. The fitted venician lace bodice was accented with separate hand-embroidered lace flowers and seed pearls around the waist and sabrina neckline with bishop sleeves. The chapel length mantilla of illusion with scalloped venician lace framed her face and was attached to a cluster of rose petals embroidered with lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white French mums and polished English ivy accented with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Ginny Lynne Lambert sister of the bride served as maid of honor, she wore a floor length gown of purple crepe and orchid dotted swiss bolero. The bridesmaids were Cindy Wake and Diana Warren, they wore floor length gowns of orchid dotted swiss and purple bolero's. Their headpieces were of identical purple crepe cutout rings with attached elbow length illusion. All three attendants carried white baskets of purple daisies.

Rhonda Ann Pharr, cousin of the bride, and Lorrie Ann Carlton, niece of the groom, were flower girls. They wore identical floor length gowns of orchid dotted swiss and matching prayer caps. The waist was accented with purple crepe bands and bows. They carried miniature white baskets of purple daisies.

The ceremony was followed by a reception held in the Education Building. The brides table was laid with white satin and tulle and bows of orchid ribbon were placed at vantage points. Centering the table was a mass arrangement of multicolored flowers in a cherub holder flanked with purple burning tapers. Presiding at the brides book was Mrs. Larry Carlton, sister of the groom. Servers were Miss Doy Jones, Miss Libby Warren, Miss Sandra Booker, and Miss Mary Nell Williams. Rice bags were distributed by Sally Ann White, Sheri Booker, and Carrie Ann Arnett.

Following their wedding trip the couple will be at home in Emmet.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — A move is afoot to establish a television hall of fame complete with a television program each year to announce the latest winners of a niche.

The project, headed by a former NBC president who is now a communications consultant, Sylvester "Pat" Weaver, is altogether laudable—if baseball has one, why not TV?

The idea, of course, is to honor those who have made outstanding contributions to the medium over the years. Automatically included would be the scientists, developers and pioneers—Vladimir Zworykin, who invented the iconoscope camera and image-orthicon tube which made so much possible; Allen B. DuMont, who dreamed of equipment inexpensive enough to bring pictures and sound into homes rather than into theatres; David Sarnoff, who presided over the birth of network broadcasting.

No television hall of fame would be complete without Milton Berle, whose 1948 show was the young medium's first smash hit; Ed Sullivan, who transferred vaudeville from five-a-day to Sunday nights; Richard M. Nixon, who in 1952 with his "Checkers" speech suggested TV's potential as a force in politics.

Some recognition should go to the imaginative souls who came up with the first living room horse opera—probably William Boyd and his "Hopalong Cassidy" shows—and its first private eye, "Martin Kane," starring Lee Tracy.

Credit should be given for some fascinating benchmarks. There were the televised Senate hearings into organized crime in 1951 with the cameras focused on the hands of witness Frank Costello; there was Edward R. Murrow's 1954 assault on the tactics of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

There were the spectacular performances of Mary Martin and Ethel Merman in the 1953 Ford 50th anniversary show and the first broadcast, in 1956, of the film classic "The Wizard of Oz." There was also Dennis James, the daytime game show host and the announcer who turned housewives into fans of professional wrestling.

Some recognition should go to the writers of original television drama that made the 1950s memorable—Paddy Chayefsky, Reginald Rose, Tad Mosel and others.

One form of entertainment

Newsboy Cap Makes News at Showing

NEW YORK (AP) — The newsboy cap made news at the fall showing of American milliners.

The small billed cap, worn most often with hair tucked in, showed up Tuesday in crushed velvet patchwork, bunny fur and even fake mink.

A commentator said the hat, popular with young people, was a sure sign of the youthful "boutique" influence in the millinery industry.

There was also a long-billed baseball cap, a wide brimmed fisherman's hat, a Dutch girls hat done in white mink and even a suede stocking cap edged in mink trim.

Net made a comeback draped over several wide-brimmed hats and the small black cocktail hat popular during the 1930s was shown in several versions, including one with feathers.

Represented at the showing were some 20 designers including Adolpho, Mr. John and Don Marshall.

The hats were enthusiastically applauded by the audience but one industry representative was dismayed that so few women present were wearing hats.

ABA Is For Merger With NBA

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The various contract provisions in professional sports that tie a player to a club are again in the spotlight because of the latest development in the proposed merger of the American and National basketball Associations.

The ABA Players Association said Wednesday they support the merger because they feel it will bring them parity. The two leagues are seeking congressional approval of a merger.

After Zelmo Beaty and Arian (S) Preblud, president and counsel, respectively, of the ABA players group, announced support of the merger, Charlie Scott, ABA players vice president, said:

"We assume that the ABA option clause will be the prevailing clause in a merger agreement."

But the NBA players have said they are fighting the merger because their owners have refused to give them an option clause.

Larry Fleischer, counsel for the NBA players, said they will continue to fight merger until they gain the "right to freely negotiate for themselves."

Currently the NBA contract setup is similar to that of major league baseball, in that a player is the property of a club until he is traded, sold or released.

The ABA players, on the other hand, have an option clause similar to that of the National Football League in which a player can become a free agent by playing for a year without a contract at up to a 10 per cent reduction in salary.

However, Fleischer hit at the ABA option agreement, calling it a "meaningless statement. Nobody in the history of professional basketball has ever played out his option."

In announcing support of a merger, Beaty said:

"The minimum salaries, per diem and pension benefits we have achieved in the ABA are not presently comparable to those achieved by the players in the older league and would not be attained as quickly without the stability of merger."

"The ABA has nearly doubled the number of playing jobs in pro basketball, but without merger some teams, I believe, would find it difficult to continue operations, thus quite a few of these opportunities for players to play professional basketball would be eliminated."

"We're sorry the ABA players took this position," said Fleischer. "We think it is shortsighted. But our fight is with the owners, not with the ABA players."

Montgomery 7-4 Over Travelers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Montgomery came up with three runs in the ninth inning to squeeze by the Arkansas Travelers 7-4 Wednesday night.

The Rebels' high ninth started after two walks and two outs. Leftfielder Rich Leon bloomed a two-strike pitch over the third baseman's head to score what proved to be the winning run.

Montgomery scored two more times during the inning on another hit and a throwing error.

The Travelers, however, managed to stay four games ahead of second-place Memphis in the Central Division of the Dixie Association.

The Memphis Savannah game was postponed because of rain.

In other Dixie action, Albuquerque blanked Amarillo 3-0, San Antonio split a doubleheader with Dallas-Fort Worth, winning the first game 1-0 and losing the second 2-0, Jacksonville defeated Columbus 5-4, Asheville took two from Birmingham, 2-0 and 3-1 and Shreveport split a doubleheader with Charlotte. The Captains took the first game 6-3 and Charlotte won the nightcap 5-0.

Thinks UCLA Can Win Tourney

By CHARLIE BAROUH
Associated Press Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — UCLA track coach Jim Bush thinks his lucky Bruin team, can win the NCAA track and field championships here. Oregon coach Bill Bowerman went into the meet Thursday hoping his Ducks would be lucky enough to finish in the top 10.

The Bruins, one of about a half-dozen favorites, were notified Tuesday by the NCAA that freshman James McAlister was ineligible for the meet because of an academic technicality.

Bowerman is withholding Norwegian distance runner Knut Kvalheim from the meet because of NCAA questions about his credentials. But the Ducks also are hurting because of various ills.

"We were counting on James quite a bit," Bush said Wednesday as the coaches made final preparations for the meet.

"We definitely figured him for points," Bush added. "James had the ability to win the long jump and could have been worth anywhere from two to 10 points."

Bush noted the track meet was a wide open affair to begin with and even more so with the Bruins minus a man. The traditional closeness of the meet was highlighted by last year's three-way tie between Kansas, Oregon and Brigham Young.

And that tie came about after California had the victory taken away because sprinter Isaac Curtis was disqualified, also on scholastic grounds.

"We still have the talent to win it," Bush said, "but so does Kansas, so does Oregon, so does Texas-El Paso, Brigham Young, USC and a lot of other teams."

The Bruins are mad, Bush said, because a similar disqualification hurt them in 1969. Bowerman listed enough problems to make the loss of only one man something of a relief. Withholding Kvalheim isn't his only concern.

Tod Lathers, Oregon's freshman steeplechase whiz, has an ailing calf muscle and might be scratched, Bowerman said.

And, as a little extra — "All our sprinters have come down with colds," Bowerman said matter-of-factly.

"We finished the season believing we might be in the top five teams," he said. "Anyone in the top five might well win it. But we've had a couple of things happen to us since then."

"The way things are going for us, we'd have to be happy to be in the top 10."

Porter Case Has Flared Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The Howard Porter case has flared again and threatened today to wipe out Villanova's greatest basketball season.

The problem erupted anew Wednesday upon disclosure of papers filed in federal court here that say Porter did indeed sign a professional contract last December while still playing for the Wildcats.

If so, the Wildcats could have erased from the record most of the victories in their 27-7 season, including their runnerup finish to UCLA in the NCAA championship tournament in which Porter was elected the Most Valuable Player. They also supposedly would forfeit some $6,500 revenue from the tournament.

Villanova athletic director Art Mahan said the school would ask the NCAA to join in a thorough investigation and the university would abide by any NCAA ruling.

NCAA director Walter Byers was not available for comment in his office in Kansas City.

Warren Brown, NCAA assistant executive director, said he has been "advised of allegations but not read them."

"We're very interested in the situation. We are now trying to review all the documents involved, or alleged to be involved in the case."

Porter, reached in Chicago where he started training camp with the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association, declined to comment and referred all questions to his lawyer.

The 6-foot-8 star, who averaged 23.5 points a game for Villanova last season, signed with the Bulls this spring, prompting a suit filed by the Pittsburgh Condors of the ABA, who claimed they had been given his signed contract by the league.

The latest development in the case was precipitated here when Federal Judge Edward C. McLean refused to seal the papers filed in the case of Pittsburgh against the Bulls.

Although Porter's attorney, Richard G. Phillips of Philadelphia, argued that leaving the papers unsealed "could do irreparable damage" to Porter and his alma mater, the papers were left open for anyone to inspect.

The papers included a document that said Porter signed with the ABA last Dec. 16 and that the contract was assigned by the ABA to the Condors. The contract, according to the documents, called for a salary of $350,000 at the rate of $50,000 a year for seven years, an "unrefundable bonus" of $15,000 for signing, a new car and another $10,000 bonus May 1, 1971.

One document bearing Porter's signature acknowledged the payment of the bonus of $15,000.

However, also included was a letter written by Porter to the Condors April 18, 1971, some three weeks after the Bulls picked him in the NBA draft and reportedly offered him a much more lucrative contract as his value increased following his tournament performance. The letter said:

"I am writing at this time to inform you that after careful review of my situation I have decided that I do not wish to play basketball in the American Basketball Association under the terms of the document dated December 16, 1970, which document you have in your possession."

The Condors later filed suit to get Porter back, and then Tuesday reached an undisclosed settlement that allowed the Bulls to keep Porter.

Nicklaus Should Win U.S. Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is just an ordinary putter but bulldog determination and bull strength should pull him through to the Open golf title here this week, predicts old Dutch Harrison.

"I never thought Jack could putt much but he's the only man strong enough to get out the rough here," said the 61-year-old club pro, once known as the Arkansas Traveler.

At 61, Harrison is the oldest man ever to qualify for the U.S. Open Championship, which starts its 71st run today over the Merion Golf Club course.

Old Dutch came close to winning the 1950 Open here. He three-putted the first and ninth holes on the final round and finished a stroke back of Ben Hogan, George Fazio and Lloyd Mangrum in the historic comeback event won by Hogan in a playoff.

Dutch, now a teaching pro at the Forest Hills Club in St. Louis, qualified in the regional trials at St. Louis' Bellerive course, scene of the 1965 Open. He shot 72-76-148.

"I haven't played any tournament golf in about a year," he said. Can't tell how I'm going to do."

Harrison started caddying when he was 12 at a nine-hole course across the road from the farm where his dad worked. He and some companions improvised two holes on the infield of a baseball diamond and spent hours pitching mashie shots back and forth about 150 yards.

"I played in my first tournament in 1930—Tommy Armour won it," he recalled. "There were only about eight or ten tournaments in those days and very little money. Total prize money was $5,000."

Dutch won his first tour tournament in 1939—the Bing Crosby Open—collecting $1,000. He also won the Texas Open a prize of $1,200. His best year was 1940 when his total prize money was $14,000.

He remained on the tour for a quarter of a century, leaving in 1964 to serve teaching jobs in Oklahoma and the Olympic Club in San Francisco before moving to St. Louis. He won the U.S. Seniors five times.

"I always have been a quick player," he said. "Ralph Guldahl and Ben Hogan were very methodical. But both of them got so they were afraid to bring the club back on a putt."

"I always thought Nicklaus and Gary Player were over-rated as putters. Nicklaus stands over the ball a long time, but that's all right. You have to wait until you're ready to hit the ball. Players have different tempos, different feelings."

Dutch's legal name is Ernest Joe Harrison, usually listed as E. J. "Dutch" Harrison.

"My parents gave me the first two names of the two millionaires my pa worked for—Ernest and Joe Fields," he explained. "We thought they might leave me some money when they died."

I never got a cent."

Has Four Consecutive Home Runs

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mike Epstein took a drive around the park and enjoyed it so much that he did it three more times in a row.

Before he ran out of gas, the Oakland A's first baseman had come home with a major league-tying record—four consecutive home runs.

"I'm hitting better," said Epstein, who didn't have to tell anyone after drilling his third and fourth homers in a row in Wednesday night's 5-1 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Not so incidentally, fabulous Vida Blue gained his 14th victory for Oakland with a six-hitter.

Epstein, acquired from Washington in a recent trade, ripped two in his last two appearances against his former teammates Tuesday night before his attack on Denny McLain Wednesday.

The next time up, he was hoping for No. 5 but struck out against Paul Linblad.

In the other American League games, the Minnesota Twins nudged the Cleveland Indians 3-2; the Baltimore Orioles ripped the Milwaukee Brewers 8-3; the New York Yankees turned back the Kansas City Royals 3-2; the Detroit Tigers shaded the Chicago White Sox 6-5 and the Boston Red Sox topped the California Angels 4-1.

Epstein and relief pitcher Darold Knowles were traded to the A's for Linblad, first baseman Don Mincher and catcher Frank Fernandez on May 8.

The homer spree, which tied him with several major leaguers, was particularly satisfying to Epstein, who hit the shots in a pitcher's park—Oakland Coliseum.

Joe Rudi also hit two solo homers and Dave Duncan crashed another in the five-homer assault on Washington pitching as McLain dropped his 12th game in 16 decisions.

Blue boosted his mark to 14-2, striking out eight enroute to his

Bruins Ahead in Women's Golf Match

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — UCLA, intent on ending Arizona State's domination of the event, soared into a seven-stroke lead Wednesday in the Women's National Intergollegiate Golf Championship.

UCLA's Janet Webber took medalist honors with an even par 73 over the 6,024-yard University of Georgia Golf Course which saw many of the players wilt in the heat on the tough back nine.

Team scores are determined by the aggregate totals of two players designated prior to the tournament. The Bruin two-some includes Miss Webber and Carol Ginder, who had a 76.

Montreal 2-0 Over San Diego

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Here's today's baseball quiz: What's the difference between the no-hitter Montreal's Bill Stoneman pitched against Philadelphia in 1969 and the one-hitter he threw at San Diego Wednesday night?

That's easy. One hit, right? Wrong. The difference, says manager Gene Mauch, is "six walks and 2½ years' experience."

That's wrong, too. The difference, as you know, is four walks and 26 months' experience.

At any rate, Stoneman, a 2½-year-old right-hander, ran his record to 9-4 by blanking the Padres 2-0, tying his own club record of 14 strikeouts and allowing only three baserunners.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia downed San Francisco 6-3, the New York Mets whipped Los Angeles 7-2, Pittsburgh beat Houston 6-4, Cincinnati nipped St. Louis 1-0 and Atlanta edged the Chicago Cubs 6-5.

Stoneman finally is consistently displaying the form the Expos have been waiting for after seasons of 11-19 and 7-15. In his no-hitter, which came in the ninth game ever played by the expansion Expos, he walked five and struck out eight.

Wednesday night he walked only one and his 14 strikeouts gave him the NL lead with 122. "Sure," Stoneman admitted, "I knew I had a no-hitter going, but I wasn't worried about it. It was my best game of the year. It went the way I planned it."

In snapping their five-game losing streak, the Expos nicked Dave Roberts for both their runs in the fifth inning on a walk, sacrifice, Clyde Mashore's double and a single by Stoneman.

"I've learned that you don't start working on a hitter's weakness from the first pitch," Stoneman said. "Last year, I was doing that and trying to nibble at corners with my fast ball. Now I ride my best stuff down the middle and say, 'Here, try to handle that.' I know when I'm throwing my best I'll beat them more than they'll beat me."

The Giants lost another game—11 of 15 this month—but for a change they didn't lose any ground to the Dodgers. Tim Lincecum hit a two-run homer as the Phillies scored four times in the second inning and doubled to keep a two-run seventh in beating the Giants.

McCarver's homer followed a two-run, two-out throwing error by third baseman Alan Galloway. Tito Fuentes homered for the Giants.

But the Dodgers saw their five-game winning string ended by the Mets as Mike Jorgensen hit two solo home runs and Bud Harrelson delivered a two-run single in the sixth, breaking open a close game. The Giants maintained their five-game lead.

Roberto Clemente's tie-breaking two-run homer in the seventh inning lifted the Pirates past the Astros and kept them 3½ games in front of the Mets in the NL East.

The winning blow came after the Astros, held hitless for five innings by Dock Ellis, erupted for five hits and four runs in the sixth to tie the score. Ellis' 10th victory tied him with three others as the NL's winningest pitcher. Clemente also drove in a run with a third-inning single.

Don Gullett hurled a four-hitter and made Lee May's run-scoring single in the first inning stand up as the Reds shaded the Cards. Gullett needed only 89 pitches Stoneman used 114 and said it was "the best I've thrown, no doubt about it."

Hank Aaron's two-run double highlighted a five-run Atlanta explosion in the fifth inning following an error by Chicago pitcher Ken Holtzman. Aaron then singled home what proved to be the winning run in the seventh after Sonny Jackson's triple.

UCLA Ahead in NCAA Tennis

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Defending NCAA tennis champion UCLA may very well be arranging an all-Bruin finale here Saturday. And the top-seeded Bruin, defending singles champion Jeff Borowiak, would like nothing better.

"It really doesn't matter who you play just as long as you reach the finals," said Borowiak, the senior star who plans to join the pro tour next week at Wimbledon.

"But I'll have to admit, it would be nice facing a teammate in the finals," Borowiak said.

UCLA, which broke Southern Cal's four-year domination of the championships last year, held a commanding position. The Bruins entered today's quarter-finals at Notre Dame with 26 points. Small college power Trinity, Tex., was close behind with 25, but two other previous contenders, Rice and Southern Cal, dropped out of contention with 23 and 21 points respectively.

The UCLA arsenal, anchored by three of the top four seeded players, was intact for the quarter-finals. Lefty Jimmy Connors, a freshman ranked second behind Borowiak, and Pakistan Davis Cup star Haroon Rahim gave the Bruins three of the eight singles players.

But spunky Trinity ace Bob McKinley, the younger brother of pro star Chuck McKinley, has different plans.

Veteran Trinity Coach Clarence Mabry, who also coached Chuck McKinley, agreed. "He's just got to come through for us or we'll be so far down the line we'll never catch up," said Mabry.

Trinity placed two players, upset winner Brian Gottfried and McKinley, in the quarter-finals while Stanford, Miami, Fla., and Rice had one apiece. UCLA was the only entry with two doubles teams remaining.

Gottfried posted the only major upset Wednesday, ousting fifth-seeded Marcello Lara of Southern Cal. Another freshman, 13th-seeded Eddie Dibbs of Miami, Fla., topped seventh-ranked Dick Stockton of Trinity.

Rounding out the leaders were Corpus Christi 17, Miami 16, Stanford 15, California and Utah 12, and North Carolina, SMU and Georgia with 10 apiece.

Hope Auto Defeats James Motor Co.

In Tuesday night's Little League action, Hope Auto defeated James Motor Company six to four. The Lions beat the CBCs ten to eight and Barry's was defeated 16 to five by the Sheriff's. Richard Wilson knocked a grand slam homerun, which was his second homerun of the game, for Sheriff's. Richard was also the winning pitcher of the game.

Morale Builder to Be Hired

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gene Autry, majority stockholder and chairman of the board of the California Angels, said Wednesday he's planning to hire an expert on morale to help alleviate clubhouse feuding.

The comments were reported in Thursday's Los Angeles Times by columnist John Hall, who interviewed Autry the day after Hall reported that some Angel players had guns in their lockers and that dissension on the club was rampant.

Autry said he didn't believe in votes of confidence for managers but said he gave his complete backing to Manager Lefty Phillips. He added that he planned two moves to help prevent violence from flaring:

—The hiring of a special player counselor—"somebody like former Detroit manager Mayo Smith"—to work closely with the players and the management. He would concern himself with the little problems that arise between the players and front office. He would be a neutral advisor to both sides.

—Election of a team captain who would add leadership on and off the field. He would either be elected by the team or appointed by the manager.

Alex Johnson, the explosive 1970 American League batting champ, may have been at the hub of some of the clubhouse dissension, Autry said. "I'm just like the other players," Autry said. "I'd rather have a .200 hitter who hustles than a .300 hitter who doesn't want to play the game."

Wimbledon Lively This Year

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
LONDON (AP) — It looks like a lively, temperamental Wimbledon Tennis Championship this year.

Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., stormed off the court in tears at Beckenham last week because of disputed line calls.

Julie Heldman of New York flounced off the Queens Club court at the London Grass Courts Championship Wednesday after losing a match against Britain's Virginia Wade.

"I had been accused once or twice of taking points that didn't belong to me," Miss Heldman said.

Miss Wade replied: "I certainly didn't call her a cheat. There was really no need for all this because she was playing so well."

Players at Queens moved on to the grasscourts Wednesday after being kept inside because of heavy rain during the first two days.

Suddenly they had a chance to sample wet grass courts—slippery ones, the ones that sometimes play slowly.

The quarter-final stage was reached in the singles.

In men's play today, Stan Smith, Pasadena, Calif., meets Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill.; John Newcombe, Australian holder of the Wimbledon crown, meets Ross Case, Australia; Owen Davison, Australia, plays Roy Emerson, Australia, and Tom Gorman of Seattle, Wash., meets Rod Laver of Australia.

In the women's singles quarter-finals Margaret Court, Australian defending champion at Wimbledon, faces Kristy Pilgeon, Danville, Calif.; Rosemary Casals, San Francisco, plays Jill Cooper, England;

CHAMP among women table tennis players, Communist China's Lin Hui-ching displays the form that won her the singles title at the Nagoya, Japan, World Table Tennis Championships which preceded the headline-making visit to China of the U.S. team. Lin Hui-ching and the other Chinese dominated the world matches.

Washington Expects to Win Regatta

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The University of Washington crew tested its confidence today as it began defense of its Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championship.

Going into this afternoon's qualifying heats, the Huskies were described by coxswain Captain Dwight Phillips as "Cocky no, confident yes" about chances to capture their second straight varsity eight title on Nearby Onondaga Lake's 2,000-meter course.

In fact, said Phillips, the idea Christine Janes, England, meets Virginia Wade, Britain, and Billie Jean King, Long Beach, Calif., plays 24-year-old Australian Helen Gourlay.

of sweeping all three eight-oared events—varsity, junior varsity and freshman—was a possibility.

Confidence in the Huskies also was expressed by coaches of opposing schools who, in a poll released Wednesday, made them solid favorites in the varsity and freshman eights and third choice to Navy and Brown in the junior varsity races.

Wisconsin and Navy placed second and third, respectively in the varsity balloting. The Midshipmen, considered the best East Coast eight this year, were the last to get here, arriving at the lake Wednesday night after competing last weekend in West Germany.

Washington followed up its championship performance here a year ago by going undefeated against regional opponents this spring.

A record field of 73 boats from 26 colleges and universities entered this year's regatta.

USC, SIU Clash Tonight

By DAN EVEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Can Southern California's ace pitcher stop hard-hitting Southern Illinois? The 1971 College World Series title hinges on the question and the answer will come tonight when the two clash at 8 p.m.

Defending champion Southern Cal edged fourth-ranked Tulsa (3-2) Wednesday night on pitcher Mark Sogge's ninth-inning single and gained the title showdown with No. 3 Southern Illinois (43-8).

"We feel we have a score to settle and can't wait for the ballgame tomorrow night," said USC Coach Rod Dedeaux, whose team touched to Southern Illinois 8-3 in the second round of the double-elimination tournament last Sunday.

Top-ranked Southern Cal (52-13) will be bidding for its eighth title—and third in four years.

Dedeaux will start junior all-America Steve Busby (10-2) who was touched for six hits and all of SIU's runs in the second game.

Southern Illinois Coach Richard Jones said he would start righthander Dick Langdon (12-1) who has given up three earned runs in 11 series innings.

Sogge, a junior righthander now 13-1, excelled wherever the Trojans needed him against Tulsa, which lost for the second straight night to Southern Cal.

He scattered eight hits, struck out five, and came up with a crafty eighth inning pickup move that ended a one-out, bases-loaded Tulsa threat.

Tulsa, which came to the tournament fourth-ranked out-hit Southern Cal eight to seven. The Golden Hurricane bowed out with a 35-12 record.

Cong Using Flame Throwers

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Up to 400 North Vietnamese troops some of them using flame throwers, attack 200 South Vietnamese marines below the demilitarized zone before dawn today.

South Vietnamese headquarters said the attack was repulsed with help from U.S. helicopter gunships, fighter-bombers and artillery. It said 63 North Vietnamese were killed. Field reports said nine marines were killed.

Two hundred more South Vietnamese marines were rushed to the battle site, 12 miles northeast of Khe Sanh and 17 miles south of the DMZ.

Some 5,000 South Vietnamese marines and infantrymen are making a major drive in the northern quarter of the country to block North Vietnamese infiltration toward the populous coastal lowlands and to forestall a major offensive.

A U.S. helicopter gunship was shot down in marshlands southeast of Saigon and two crewmen were wounded.

The allied commands issued their weekly summary of casualties today, and there was little change in the pattern that has prevailed for much of this year. The totals for last week were 25 Americans killed in action, 13 dead of nonhostile causes and 199 wounded; 322 government troops killed in action and 934 wounded, and 1,883 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

This pattern of low American and high Vietnamese casualties reflected the continuing disengagement of American forces from combat and the steady progress of the withdrawal program.

In southern Laos, heavy fighting was reported on Route 23 between the town of Pakse, held by Laotian government forces, and the Bolovens Plateau, held by the North Vietnamese.

Thieves Take Millions in Mail Pouches

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Top-secret missile plans and other government documents appeared often in mail pouches from which a smoothly operating national theft ring stole $100 million in valuables, an admitted thief has told Senate investigators.

The thief, Robert F. Cudak, 29, said although afraid of the secret papers, he read some of them out of curiosity. But he never tried to sell them, he said, and either burned them or floated them out to sea.

The object of his more than 175 thefts, the federal convict said, was not espionage but the millions of dollars in securities, diamonds, travelers' checks, furs and cash carried in U.S. registered mail. He said he sold his loot at a fraction of its true value to fences controlled directly by the crime syndicate in New York and New Jersey.

Surrounded by armed U.S. marshals and granted immunity from prosecution, Cudak testified Wednesday before the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman, said he fears the statements implicating a dozen or more men in enormous thefts will endanger Cudak's life.

Cudak said he once was warned by a diamond fence closely connected to the crime syndicate to stay away from John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York because Army security agents were "very interested in the thefts."

Cudak was asked how a fence could know what military agents were doing and responded: "He told me he had a lodge brother who was an FBI agent."

Cudak said one pouch of mail stolen at Jacksonville, Fla., airport was filled only with classified documents intended for Englin Air Force Base. Another pouch contained "a new type of handgun" and still another had "parts of a ballistic system or some such thing."

Most of the documents were from the Department of the Army, Cudak said, but others were from the FBI and the Central Intelligence Agency.

The question of possibly compromised classified documents was brought up by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who said he was interested because following disclosure in the New York Times this week of portions of a top-secret Pentagon history of American involvement in Vietnam.

Cudak said he is serving a seven-year prison term for robberies in New York and at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport.

In the O'Hare arrest Nov. 23, 1968, Cudak said, he and his partner were spreading their loot over the beds in a motel in Rosemount when police burst in.

The first thing the officers did, Cudak said, was to scoop handfuls of stolen diamonds and cash into their pockets, later telling federal agents a third man must have escaped with his share of the loot.

Police Chief Richard Drehobl of Rosemount, interviewed in the Chicago suburb, said he is confident Cudak's allegations are untrue.

"When we made the arrest, police from other areas came within minutes," he said. "I can't believe that this (Cudak's description) could have happened."

Hung Jury in Murder Trial

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP) — The first-degree murder trial of Roger D. Mosby, 24, of Redfield (Jefferson County) ended in a hung jury Wednesday in Circuit Court here. It was the third trial for Mosby, who is accused of the 1969 slaying of Ronald E. Lovelace, a Little Rock taxicab driver.

Mosby had been convicted twice in the stabbing death of Lovelace. He was given the death sentence in the two previous trials. Both convictions were overturned by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Judge Henry Means of Malvern dismissed the jury Wednesday night after it deliberated 6½ hours and could not reach a decision.

COUNTER-countermove- ment is headed by Bruce Kessler, 26, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a Marine veteran of Vietnam who is forming Vietnam Veterans for a Just Peace to oppose veterans' antiwar groups. Kessler supports the administration's Vietnamization and phased U.S. withdrawal policies.

War Casualty Toll Only 25 During Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 25 Americans were killed in action in Indochina last week, the fourth lowest toll this year.

Thirteen other U.S. servicemen died of nonhostile causes and 199 were wounded in combat, the weekly casualty summary said.

The combat death toll was six higher than the toll the week before, when 19 Americans were killed in action. That total was the lowest for one week in more than 5½ years.

The low number of battlefield deaths reflects the steady reduction in the total number of Americans in Vietnam and the low level of fighting involving the 247,200 U.S. troops that were still in Vietnam last week.

Vietnamese casualties continued high, however. South Vietnamese headquarters reported 322 government troops killed in action last week and 934 wounded, while the two allied commands claimed 1,883 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed.

The Vietnamese casualties the week before were 419 killed and 908 wounded for the government and 1,789 killed for the enemy.

The weekly summaries raised the total casualties reported in the war to: Americans—45,275 killed in action, 9,596 dead of nonhostile causes, 300,123 wounded.

South Vietnamese—128,760 dead, 279,629 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—751,885 killed.

Bumpers May Run for Senate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers says he has not ruled out the possibility of seeking the Senate position of Sen. John L. McClellan in the 1972 general election.

Bumpers, in an interview, said he will leave his options open on his political plans in 1972.

"I can truthfully say that I have not made up my mind on any of that," Bumpers said in an interview when asked whether he would seek a second term as governor or run for another office.

He said his decision would be based largely on how successful he is in his first term as governor.

Bumpers has been mentioned as a possible candidate for McClellan's seat. Asked if he would rule out the race for McClellan's seat, the governor replied: "I wouldn't rule out anything. As I say, I would leave all my options open."

The governor said he could not assess his popularity at this point. He said he had run no polls, but he repeated his oft-said remark that "I'll never be as popular again as I was Nov. 3" when he won a landslide victory over then-Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

"I think that's a fair statement," he said. "Obviously, once you get into the decision-making process, when you have to choose between 50 and 60 people for a job or appointment and you can only pick one, everyone knows what the results of those decisions are."

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Cataracts Obscure Normal Vision

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb -- Please tell me why no one writes about eyes? Are they not important? I think our eyes are as important as any part of our body. I am one who has learned the hard way. I wish someone had educated me before it was too late. I could have expected the trouble and maybe gone to see my eye doctor sooner.

I am 47 and recently found out I had cataracts on both eyes and I had to have them removed. It had been eight years since I had my eyes checked.

Please tell me what causes cataracts and where they grow.

Dear Reader -- Yes the eyes are important and no one knows how important until they have lost their use. Most family doctors can give adequate examinations for the eyes and know when to refer a patient to the eye doctor. Unless you already have an eye problem and are being treated by an eye doctor the right place to start is with your family doctor. This allows the eye doctor time to look after important problems, like removing cataracts.

DIGGING IN for a good cause, Rodney Bradford, 6, with moral support from Carlee Campbell, 7, comes up with a shovelful of the more than $43,000 in small change—nearly two million coins in all—tossed into a wishing well at Luray Caverns, Va., to support muscular dystrophy and other health funds. Cavern visitors' contributions over the past five years were retrieved when the well was drained. Rodney and Carlee, both of Luray, helped put the coins through a converted cement mixer bath to come out shiny as new.

Detention Camp Law Disputed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is going to settle an emotional dispute between committees over killing or keeping a Korean War-era law permitting the herding of alleged subversives into detention camps.

The heart of the repeal drive, say the law's opponents, is fear the government could use the 1950 law to arbitrarily roundup black rioters and antiwar demonstrators.

But the law's supporters insist substantial misunderstanding exists about the measure. They say it is meant to apply to cases involving times of insurrection, invasion or declared war.

So, the backers urge retaining it under terms that would add safeguards aimed at avoiding arbitrary roundups. The Judiciary Committee wrote a repeal plan to wipe out the Emergency Detention Act of 1950 and restrict "the imprisonment or other detention of citizens by the United States to situations in which statutory authority for their incarceration exists."

The Internal Security Committee, itself split over repeal, has drafted amendments to the law to explicitly detail how and to whom it is to be applied and assuring adequate legal representation for any caught or held under it.

Rep. Spark M. Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, said Wednesday the bills offer "diametrically opposed views on the question: Is there a need for concentration camps in America." The Rules Committee then sent the matter to the floor under a plan providing a vote first on the Internal Security bill as a substitute for the Judiciary version.

Action could come by next week. Matsunaga, backing the Judiciary repeal plan, recalled President Franklin D. Roosevelt's World War II order to send about 112,000 Japanese-Americans to detention camps. He called the 1950 law "a glaring blight in our image as a nation of freedom-loving people."

But Internal Security Committee Chairman Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., maintained his panel's measure would "relieve any misapprehension and should definitely lay at rest" fears evoked by any "misrepresentation as to the terms of the act." The Internal Security Committee's bill, the chairman added, would make clear that no citizen can be apprehended or detained "on account of race, color or ancestry."

Medina Trial Is Questioned

By KATHRYN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Aubrey Daniel, the Army prosecutor who obtained a murder conviction against Lt. William L. Calley Jr., will be called to testify on whether improper command influence was exerted in bringing Capt. Ernest Medina to trial.
Medina, 34, of Montrose, Colo., is charged with the slaying of 102 Vietnamese civilians at My Lai. Calley was convicted of 22 murders at My Lai. At a pretrial hearing for Medina Wednesday, Col. Kenneth Howard, the military judge, ruled that the command influence question is such a vital issue that there is no point in proceeding until it has been settled.
He ruled that Daniel and six other witnesses must testify in a separate hearing, which begins Monday, on whether Medina was brought to trial as a result of improper command influence.
Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey is seeking dismissal of the charges against Medina on grounds that improper influence was exerted.
Bailey charged in the first of 18 motions Wednesday that Daniel wanted to call Medina as a witness in the Calley case but was overruled by a written order forbidding him to put Medina on the stand.
Bailey said Daniel would be questioned about such orders. Medina did testify, but at the request of the jury and not as a prosecution or defense witness.
Daniel, 29, now a civilian attorney in Washington, D.C., was contacted by telephone at Portsmouth, Va., where he and his wife are visiting friends.
Daniel said he did not know of the judge's ruling. "If I'm subpoenaed, of course, I'll come," he said. He declined further comment.
The judge also ordered Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, commanding general of the 3rd Army at Ft. McPherson, three colonels, a retired colonel and a sergeant who served with the 2nd Platoon in Medina's company at My Lai to testify.
Bailey charged that the high-ranking officers "conspired" to bring Medina to trial through "improper, unethical and illegal conduct."
Bailey also claimed that Medina's case was prejudiced in the trial of Sgt. Charles Hutto, who was acquitted on charges in the May Lai accident.
Hutto, like Calley, had contended that civilians were killed on orders from Medina. Bailey said Medina was never allowed to dispute that charge in Hutto's trial.
Bailey said Maj. William Eckhardt, prosecutor in the Medina case and an assistant prosecutor in Hutto's case, and Col. Wilson Freeman, staff judge advocate at Ft. McPherson, agreed "that a conviction of Sgt. Hutto would be forfeited to bolster the prosecution of Cpt. Medina even though the charges against him had not yet been referred to trial."

Police Don't Like Drug Law

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Chief of Police Hollis Spencer of Fayetteville, who took over Wednesday as president of the Arkansas Law Enforcement Officers Association, said the biggest concern of the association was the state's new drug control law.
Hollis, who replaced State Police Trooper Melvin DeLong as president of the association, said in an interview that the state's police officers did not like the new law. He said the law, passed by this year's General Assembly, is making it difficult to control drug abuse on the University of Arkansas campus at Fayetteville.
Hollis said the basic complaint concerning the law is a provision which makes it a misdemeanor instead of a felony for the first offense in violation on "hard drugs" as well as marijuana.
"We feel the penalties are not strong enough," he said.
As for the drug problem at the university, Hollis said it was no different than any other campus in the country.

Kills Two, Then Blows Himself Up

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — With homemade grenades strapped to his body, a leftist wanted for the assassination of Chile's former vice president machine-gunned two detectives at their headquarters Wednesday then blew himself up, seriously wounding a third detective.

Police said Heriberto Salazar, 45, was one of three members of the extremist Organized Vanguard of the People who were accused of killing Edmundo Perez Zujovic last week. The others were Ronald Rivera Calderon, 25, killed by police Sunday, and his brother Arturo, 20, who killed himself rather than surrender.

Police said Salazar went in the front door of the downtown headquarters of the plainclothes police, Chile's equivalent of the FBI, whipped out a submachine gun and fired a burst that killed two detectives. Then he ran back toward the entrance and set off the grenades, killing himself and wounding a detective nearby.

Riot police cordoned off the area, believing there might be more terrorists, but a search showed Salazar was alone. Another terrorist attack was reported earlier in the day against a plainclothes police officer in the country's interior.

Perez Zujovic was ambushed by three men on June 8. As interior minister in the Christian Democratic government of President Eduardo Frei, he controlled the police and waged a vigorous campaign against leftist extremism.

His assassination by leftists was a serious embarrassment to Frei's Marxist successor, President Salvador Allende, who heads a leftist coalition government that includes his own Socialist party and the Communists. The Socialists and Communists charged that the assassination had been engineered by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency but soft-pedaled the charge when the United States protested to Allende. Meanwhile, the president proclaimed a state of emergency and a curfew and ordered vigorous police action to apprehend the assassins.

The Christian Democrats charged that Perez Zujovic's assassination was the result of government softness toward ultra-leftists. Police sources said Tuesday that the Vanguard of the People planned a terror campaign, with two antigovernment politicians and prominent North American residents of Chile marked for assassination.

The terror organization has charged that Allende is not going fast enough with his program to transform Chile into a Socialist state.

Allende said Wednesday night that his enemies want to install a "Fascist dictatorship." He said the assassination of Perez Zujovic was the work of "false revolutionaries mixed up with delinquents" who were trying to make trouble for his government.

OLD FASHIONS ARE NEW NEW YORK (AP) — Many today's "hot" fashion numbers can be found in the Trapagen School of Fashion museum which includes items dating back to 1862. "This proves there's nothing really new under the fashion sun," says school director Wanda Wodka.

Dear Helen:

Here's another "blind love" letter. How can a smart girl be so dumb?

Our friend is beautiful, 20, and tied down to a real creep. He dresses like a bum, hardly ever wears shoes or combs his hair, and is terribly childish. His wealthy mother spoiled him so much that he won't look for work.

This girl has a job, an apartment and a car. She buys food for him, picks up the tab for movies, gives him beer money, the use of her car, and drops everything when he calls. She also does his laundry.

But he always has money for his own things, like trips to rock concerts, etc., while she is working. Now he's going to Europe for the summer, but he won't let her apply for an airline hostess job. He'd never let her go anywhere without him, even with her girl friends, and he expects her to sit home all summer and save her money so he can sponge off her all next winter.

The few times she has come to her senses, he cries, and pretends illness, until she feels sorry for him and takes him back.

What's with these girls who only fall for "men" they can mother?—FRIENDS

Dear Friends:

Your girl friend may be an emotionally immature, part-time masochist, or a smart little operator who hopes to "marry money" never mind the creep that comes with the bundle.

Aim her toward real MEN during the summer leave. Comparison sometimes helps.—H.

Dear Helen:

In our town you are either a creepy dude or a popular chick or one other thing: a girl with a bad reputation.

My girl friend and I were a real freaky pair (unpopular) last year, but we changed, and are now in the fun crowd. That means booze and cars and hitchhiking on weekends and being kind of wild, but not "bad." (We're 15.)

But, Helen, we're worried because it could turn bad real fast if somebody tried more dope than usual, or a drunk driver went over a cliff. We don't want to give up these new friends because we're having a blast but it seems like they try a little more each time, and where's it going to end?—DON'T WANT TO SIT HOME ON SATURDAY NIGHTS AGAIN

"bad reputation" bunch. If there isn't a safe level between "creepy dude" and "popular chick," then it's about time you girls started building one in your town!—H.

Dear Helen:

At 18, I started on pot, then pills and eventually LSD and speed. My next few years were spent drifting from one town to the next, the usual scene for a junky.

At 20, I woke up and went on the drying out trip. A quotation from your column inspired me to write: "It's easy going down the road, but very hard coming back." Now I face another problem. Since being clean, I've met a wonderful guy who wants to marry me. He loves children, but I don't know what the drugs have done. I've asked doctors who can't assure me I won't have deformed babies—if I can have any at all. This is just another letter that tells 'em:

The trip isn't worth the price, girls!—SORRY

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Don S. Smith, a member of the state Public Service Commission, was mentioned in the June 14 issue of the Oil and Gas Journal as one of four persons being considered for a position on the Federal Power Commission.

The journal implies that Rush Moody, a Texas lawyer is the frontrunner for the position. Smith was appointed to the PSC in 1969 by former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

BUDAPEST FESTIVAL WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Naturefilm Festival will be held in Budapest, Sept. 5-15, says the Embassy of the Hungarian People's Republic.

The film festival is sponsored by the Union of Hungarian Film and TV Artists, the Presidency of the Society for Promoting Scientific Knowledge and the Union of Hungarian Film Amateurs. The film will be shown in connection with the World Exhibition of Hunting.

Ranchers Shot Bald Eagles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department's top wild life and game investigator says a probe into the poisoning deaths of Bald and Golden Eagles in Wyoming has turned up evidence ranch heads have been shooting at the high-flying birds from aircraft.

Charles H. Lawrence, chief of the department's Division of Management and Enforcement, said the government will step up its investigation or persons who kill eagles as part of their predator control programs.

Lawrence disclosed the new investigation Wednesday after stating the federal government will not prosecute persons responsible for poisoning eagles on the ground because "we couldn't locate anyone who deliberately set out to kill eagles." The poison was intended for coyotes, he said.

However, he added "I think state charges may be filed" in the poisoning incidents. All information obtained by federal investigators has been turned over to local authorities, he said.

Lawrence said 50 dead Gold and Bald Eagles have been discovered in canyon lands around Casper, Wyo. Twenty-five are believed to have died from thallium sulfate poisoning, he said. The remainder died of gunshot wounds or were electrocuted by high tension wires.

Lawrence said the probe into the poisoning deaths turned up "reliable information to the effect gunners have been instructed to shoot eagles as well" while hunting coyotes from light planes and helicopters.

Ranch hands are instructed to pursue and kill the eagles because of ranchers' beliefs the birds prey on young lambs and goats, he said.

Lawrence made no estimate as to the number of eagles killed annually from aircraft, saying "many are shot in remote areas and not recovered."

As for the poisoning deaths, Lawrence said poison was placed on the carcasses of antelope and the eagles died after eating the meat. He said the antelope were "taken during the closed season," a violation of state law.
